

Table of contents

Legend	5
Introduction.....	7
I. Characteristics of the instrument
I.1. Components and mechanism	11
I.2. The sound – the acoustic and aural perception behaviour	16
II. Two separate stories
II.1. The toy piano with strings: a miniature instrument for children of the wealthy.....	20
II.2. The Harold Rhodes’ Xylette and Kawai toy piano	26
III. Music as ‘play’
III.1. Toy instruments in art music.....	33
IV. Curious ‘pianos’ before the toy piano
IV.1. Keyboard instruments with glass components (crystallophones).....	50
IV.2. The ‘pianoforte a cristallo’ by Giuseppe Bisogno ...	54
IV.3. Stahlklavier, Glockenspiel and Harmonica à clavier	57
IV.4. Ancient virginals and ‘sewing boxes’	59
V. The history of three toy piano makers: Albert Schoenhut, Victor Michel, Egisto Bontempi
V.1. Schoenhut toy piano, from Germany to the United States.....	63
V.2. In Europe: ‘Petit piano’ Michelsonne and the ‘Pianini’ by Egisto Bontempi.....	70

VI. From the past to the present
VI.1. “Give your child toys”	78
VI.2. “The Ladies’ Home Journal”	86
VI.3. On the threshold of the twenty-first century	89
VII. The play-community
VII.1. John Cage and the toy piano.....	93
VII.2. Toy piano repertoire: an overview of selected works	96
VII.3 The role of interpreters.....	109
VIII. Playing practicalities for performers.....	113
Conclusions	118
Bibliography	123
List of works with toy instruments	131
List of works for toy piano	136
Discography.....	153
Acknowledgements.....	159
Picture acknowledgements.....	160
Index of Names	163